Welcome, Alumni

Please mark your calendars to return to Haverford for Alumni Weekend, May 26–28, 2017. This year’s celebration, which takes place over Memorial Day weekend, includes many exciting opportunities for alumni, families, friends, and campus community members. No matter what you are looking for—classroom-style lectures with faculty, yoga classes, a trip to The Barnes Foundation, or class parties in memorable locations—all of this, and more, awaits. Meanwhile, HaverCamp makes it easy to bring the whole family back for Reunion. With three childcare sessions available throughout the day on Saturday, plus a Family Carnival on Lloyd Green (open to everyone), there will be fun for all, including “first-time Fords.”

One of the main attractions of the festivities will be Saturday’s Food Truck and Music Festival on Founders Green, which showcases alumni bands and offers a variety of cuisines accommodating all tastes. (See page 37 for details.) Several classes have organized Bi-Co activities throughout the weekend.

And for those of you who haven’t been back to campus in a while, I encourage you to take advantage of a variety of tours, which feature our new dorms, recent Sharpless renovations, and class trees, among other campus highlights. These are just a sampling of the many events you will read about in the following pages.

Please join me in thanking the volunteers on your class reunion committees who have worked so hard to put together an appealing program. Register starting April 1 using the form on page 35 or online at hav.to/alumniweekend.

On behalf of everyone here on campus, I hope to see you this May.

Participatory Project: “Sharing Our Stories: Voices from Haverford College”
10:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m.
Magill Library, Group Study Room
Have a story you would like to share? Know someone with a story you want others to hear? Have your voice heard by recording an oral history on the rich facets of student life at the College and the impact your Haverford education has had on your life. The “Sharing Our Stories” project strives to capture stories from any alumni who have celebrated their 50th Reunion as well as members of Haverford’s LGBTQI+ community. Consider making your contribution to the Archives, so that generations to come can hear the stories that make Haverford unique.

For more information, contact Krista Oldham, college archivist/records manager koldham@haverford.edu or (610) 896-1284. To schedule a time to share your story, contact Catherine Toia, associate director of Alumni and Parent Relations, ctoia@haverford.edu or (610) 795-7923.

Register online at Fords.Haverford.EDU or use the form on page 35.

Exhibition: John G. Bullock, Maxfield Parrish, and George, Mary, and William Vaux: Photographers of the Real
10:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.
Marshall Fine Arts Center, Atrium Gallery

Since the invention of photography in 1839, Haverford alumni have played an important role in the development of this art form. This exhibition brings together important photographs, manuscripts, and related works by five artists from the late 19th–early 20th century. Four of them attended Haverford, and all were birthright Quakers, born in Greater Philadelphia and nurtured by the city’s culture and traditions. John G. Bullock (Class of 1874) played a major role in establishing the institutional infrastructure for the local and national promotion of photography as a fine art form, by virtue of his memberships in the Philadelphia Photographic Society and the Photo-Secession under the leadership of Alfred Stieglitz. The three Vaux siblings—George Vaux (Class of 1884), William Vaux (Class of 1893), and Mary Vaux Walcott (1860–1940)—used photography to document the Canadian Rocky Mountains as an aspect of their scientific studies of glaciers. All three became associate members of the Photo-Secession, and their work continues to be relevant today amidst climate change concerns. Maxfield Parrish (Class of 1892) used his photographs as study aids for his artwork and is best known for his illustrations, many of which appeared in the Philadelphia-based Saturday Evening Post. A keen observer of landscape, light, and form, Parrish took photographs that have not been seen in generations. This exhibition is made possible by recent gifts to Haverford’s Fine Art Photography Collection by Tina Vaux McCauley, a descendant of the Vaux family; by Robert Bishop, a descendant of John G. Bullock; and by a recent acquisition of Maxfield Parrish’s photographs.

Celebrate the 100th Anniversary and Renovation of Sharpless Hall
2:00–3:30 p.m.
Hilles Hall 109
Sharpless Hall has just undergone a major renovation, just in time to celebrate its 100th anniversary this year. Its amazing transformation will help educate the next 100 years of students majoring in biology, psychology, or new disciplines yet to be imagined. Hear from Biology alumni James E. Dahlberg ’62 and Andrew E. Budson ’88, and from Psychology alumni Emily L. Dix ’12 and Miriam S. Korn ’07. Alumni will talk with faculty about how they envision the transformation of these disciplines, as they look forward to the growing connections between natural science and social science education. Future students will undoubtedly spend time in Sharpless mining these connections, too! Wine and cheese will be served. Tour of Sharpless will follow the panel in Hilles.

Meet the van at Stokes Bay

HaverCamp: Open
9:00 a.m.–11:00 p.m.
Ira De A. Reid House
Daylong childcare services for children ages 3–13 are staffed by energetic Haverford students and overseen by a certified teacher. Three sessions (morning, afternoon, and evening) each cost $35 per child and $15 for each additional child. Activities include a nature walk, story time, arts and crafts, and a supervised trip to the Family Fun Fair (see page 11). Unfortunately, we are unable to provide care for children who are under the age of three or who are not toilet-trained. Upon arrival, sign in your child at the camp’s headquarters at the Ira De A. Reid House. You may stop in to see your child at any time throughout the day. To maintain a safe counselor-to-camper ratio, pre-registration is required; we are unable to accommodate walk-ins. The Ira De A. Reid House is closed to visitors during Alumni Weekend with the exception of HaverCampers and their parents.
Magill Library: Open
10:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m.

Class of ’62 Presents: “Perspectives of the Good Life” with Lee H. Yearly ’62
1:30–2:30 p.m.
Sharpless Auditorium
This unique session builds on what talking together about great texts can do to and for us. In lieu of a formal presentation, Yearly—the Walter Y. Evan-Wentz Professor of Oriental Philosophies, Religions, and Ethics at Stanford University—briefly introduces several short readings and facilitates the discussion. He will distribute to participants a series of poems and/or more theoretical pieces drawn from China as well as the West, chosen for their accessibility and relevance to “our stage (or stages) of life.”

Class of ’72 Memorial
1:45–2:30 p.m.
Haverford Meeting House

Class of ’07 Outdoor Gathering
2:00–4:30 p.m.

Join a conversation facilitated by a student member of the LGBTQI+ community.

Class of ’62 Presents: “From Age-ing to Sage-ing: A Profound New Vision of Growing Older”
3:00–4:30 p.m.
Whitehead Campus Center 205
Donald W. Adams ’62 offers this program based on the teaching of Zalman Schachter-Shalomi (and his book of the same title) to explore the question, “What is your aim as you grow older?” The philosophy of the “Age-ing to Sage-ing” movement (www.sage-ing.org) uses the Quaker and Circle approaches for evolving personal and group wisdom. In this work, each voice matters, and respectful listening and authentic speaking lead to personal understandings and consensual conclusions. After a short introductory presentation on Reb Zalman’s vision for becoming a sage and spiritual elder as the final stage of life, Adams will pose a series of challenging questions. Smaller audience “dyads”

Class of ’97 Outdoor Gathering
2:30–4:30 p.m.
Leeds Green (Magill side)

Class of ’02 Drinks and Outdoor Games
2:30–4:00 p.m.

2:00–4:00 p.m.
Chase Auditorium
Members of the class of ’57 present three discussions:
• “Give the Kid a Break, Don’t Hit with your Head, and Surgery for Dollars and Complications” with orthopedic surgeon Joe Torg ’57, “Exoplanets and Our Planet’s Climate Change” with Bob Noyes ’57, retired physicist, Harvard Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics; and “U.S.-China Relationships, Present and Future” with Akira Iriye ’57, former Professor of American History, Harvard University. All alumni are welcome.

Class of ’92 Outdoor Gathering
2:00–4:00 p.m.
Cricket Pavilion (in case of rain: Alumni Field House)
Join your classmates near the Cricket Pavilion for outdoor games and a chance to visit and reconnect.
will discuss each one, followed by a harvesting of wisdom from the group. The program begins and ends with music and readings that are conducive to deeper contemplation of one’s own life path and own personal process of Sage-ing. This program is open to the Class of ’62 as well as other interested alumni.

Office of Multicultural Affairs (OMA) Open House 4:00–5:00 p.m.
Stokes Hall 106—Multicultural Center
This event is held in partnership with the Multicultural Alumni Action Group (MAAG).

Class of ’72 Presents a Panel Discussion: “Responding as Haverfordians to a Polarized America” 4:00–5:30 p.m.
Founders Common Room

Class of ’87 Presents: A Preview Screening of Brown’s Canyon, Directed by John Helde ’87 4:00–6:00 p.m.
Chase Auditorium
Enjoy this mid-life comedy/drama about two self-help gurus who set out to resuscitate their careers by co-hosting a women’s mindfulness retreat in the Utah wilderness. With dreams of a new business and inner peace, they see their own lives begin to unravel over one awkward weekend when their plans are thwarted—by surprise guests, a mudslide, and a bowl of spoiled chili. Director John Helde ’87 worked with the cast to improvise the script, which he shot in one location over ten days. Alumni from all classes are welcome to this private on-campus screening.

Haverford College Dining Services Presents: “Saturday Class Dinners: A Cruise Around the Mediterranean” 7:00–9:30 p.m.
Please join us for a festive dinner experience featuring food and flavors from around the Mediterranean. The menu includes such items as spanakopita, spicy chickpea stew, chicken tagines, and more. All class dinners are held under tents on Founders Green, with the exception of 50th Reunion and beyond (see page 15 for tentative assignments for those classes). Beer and wine are included with dinner. Please note dietary restrictions when you register.

Note: Due to limited space in the tents, dinner sold out last year. Be sure to register in advance, as tickets at the door may not be available.

REUNION CLASS HOUSING

Dormitory rooms are available Thursday night through Sunday morning. The price is $75 per person, whether you stay one, two, or three nights.

Within each room you will find bed linens, blankets, basic toiletries, and two towels for each guest. You may want to bring additional towels, hangers, and basic toiletries. All rooms have air conditioning. There are no double beds or private baths.

If you stay in the dorms, you must return your room key at either the registration desk in Whitehead Campus Center or at brunch at the Dining Center on Sunday morning, or you will incur a $150 fee (as the College is required to change the locks on that room).

Some alumni prefer the convenience of a local hotel. The College has reserved blocks of rooms at a number of local hotels (list at fords.haverford.edu/alumniweekend). When making your reservation, please indicate that you are calling for the Haverford College Alumni Weekend rate.

Exhibition: John G. Bullock, Maxfield Parrish, and George, Mary, and William Vaux: Photographers of the Real
10:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.
Marshall Fine Arts Center, Atrium Gallery

Since the invention of photography in 1839, Haverford alumni have played an important role in the development of this art form. This exhibition brings together important photographs, manuscripts, and related works by five artists from the late 19th–early 20th century. Four of them attended Haverford, and all were birthright Quakers, born in Greater Philadelphia and nurtured by the city’s culture and traditions. (For a full exhibition description, see page 3.)

2017 ALUMNI ASSOCIATION AWARDS

AN ANNUAL HIGHLIGHT OF ALUMNI WEEKEND IS RECOGNIZING ALUMNI WHO HAVE MADE OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTIONS IN VARIOUS WAYS.

This year, the Alumni Association honors 17 individuals for exceptional service to the College, professional excellence, and significant contributions to society.

STEVEN JAHARIS ’82
Kannerstein Award for Sustained Service to the College
Steve Jaharis is a family physician in private practice at Winnetka Family Medicine in Winnetka, IL. He is a member of the Overseers Board for the School of Medicine and The Sackler School of Graduate Biomedical Sciences at Tufts University. Steve serves as a director of Pearl Therapeutics, Inc., and as a trustee of the Jaharis Family Foundation. He has served on the boards of Kos Pharmaceuticals, Inc., and Arisaph Pharmaceuticals. At Haverford Steve majored in economics, and he earned his M.D. from Tufts University School of Medicine in 1987.

CATHERINE KOSHLAND ’72
The Kannerstein Award for Sustained Service to the College
The Kannerstein Award honors the legacy and memory of Gregory Kannerstein ’63, an honored and revered alumnus, and a friend and mentor to many. Greg served Haverford for many years as director of athletics, dean of the College, and professor. This most distinguished award given by the Alumni Association honors those who, in a variety of ways, have provided loyal and active support for the work of the College.

Cathy Koshland is the vice chancellor for undergraduate education at the University of California, Berkeley, and the Wood-Calvert Professor in Engineering. She is a professor of environmental health sciences in the School of Public Health and a professor in the Energy and Resources Group. Previously Cathy was vice provost for Teaching, Learning, Academic Planning, and Facilities. Her teaching and research interests are in science and policy at the intersection of environmental health, energy, and air pollution.

The author of over 160 papers in these fields, Cathy holds an extensive portfolio of university, government, and community service memberships. She is a former director and secretary of The Combustion Institute, and has served on the editorial board of the journal Combustion Science and Technology. Cathy also served on the board of advisors at The University of Vermont College of Engineering and Mathematical Sciences, and on the Integrated Human Exposure Committee of the EPA’s Science Advisory Board from 2001 to 2003.

Cathy is honorary co-chair of Haverford’s Lives That Speak Campaign and a member of its Steering Committee. She served on the Board of Managers from 1994 to 2014, as co-chair from 2006 to 2009, and chair from 2009 to 2014. Cathy is also a former member of the Alumni Association Executive Committee and a past reunion volunteer. During the Educating to Serve, Educating to Lead Campaign, she and her husband, Jim Koshland ’73, pledged leadership gifts to the Annual Fund and to the Humanities Center. In March 2012, they established The Phyllis Koshland Professorship in Fine Arts to honor Jim’s sister.

After studying fine arts at Haverford, Cathy went on to earn an M.S. and Ph.D. in mechanical engineering from Stanford University. She also studied painting at the New York School of Drawing, Painting, and Sculpture. She has extensive family connections to the College, including her late father, Edmond Preston III ’45. Cathy and Jim have three children and reside in Atherton, CA.

ALEXANDER ROBINSON ’96
The William Kaye Award
The Kaye Award is given for exemplary service to the College in the area of career development. The award honors William Kaye ’54, past president of the Alumni Association and a strong advocate for career development resources for alumni and students. Exemplary volunteer service includes providing internships and/or externships, attending job fairs, facilitating career networking, or otherwise helping students and alumni advance their careers.

Alex Robinson is a partner, co-founder, and head of research at Tenor Capital Management Co., L.P., a hedge fund founded in 2003 that specializes in relative value and convertible arbitrage, with over $1 billion in assets under management. He began his investing...
ROBERT EISINGER ’87

The Charles Perry Award

The Perry Award is given for exemplary service to the College in the area of fundraising. The award honors Chuck Perry ’36, who served as associate director of development from 1954 to 1958 and as the director of annual giving for the next 21 years. Exemplary service includes serving as a class volunteer, on a reunion committee, or in another role supporting the work of Institutional Advancement.

Robert Eisinger is a scholar, teacher, and author of works on issues of public opinion, politics, and higher education. Most recently, he served for three years as the dean of the Feinstein College of Arts and Sciences at Roger Williams University in Bristol, RI. Previously he was the dean of liberal arts at the Savannah College of Art and Design in Savannah, GA. His book The Evolution of Presidential Polling was published in 2003 by Cambridge University Press.

Robert spent much of his career as a professor at Lewis & Clark College in Portland, OR. While in Portland, he gained experience as a “pinch-hit” talk-radio jock and political analyst, both on AM 860 KPAM, and later on Oregon Public Broadcasting. Robert earned an M.A. and Ph.D. in political science from the University of Chicago, after a brief stint managing a political campaign in Suffolk County, NY.

Born and raised on Long Island, Robert studied political science at Haverford. His campus activities included coordinating the campus jazz band, serving as a disc jockey for WHRC, writing a column for the Bi-Co News, and co-leading the Wednesday night film series. Robert received a Harry S. Truman Scholarship in 1985. In his spare time, Robert enjoys street photography. He remains a devoted jazz fan, sports enthusiast, and mediocre golfer.

ROBERT ELWOOD ’82

The Charles Perry Award

Bob Elwood is a business and tax attorney with Klehr Harrison Harvey Branzburg LLP in Philadelphia. After attending law school at Boston University, where he was ranked first in his class, he began his career as a tax lawyer at Dechert, LLP, where he represented the College.

As a high school junior in Concord, MA, Bob received a letter from Greg Kannerstein ’63, recruiting him to play baseball at Haverford. Once here, Bob discovered intellectual challenges, lifelong friends, and a community that helped him to develop as a person. He crafted a personal creed based on the College’s Honor Code, Quaker values, and commitment to social justice.

Not long after graduation, Bob became ’82 Class Chair, and has enjoyed planning reunions with his classmates ever since. His class has contributed over $30 million to the College and set several fundraising records, winning nine Founder’s Bell Awards for best participation rate. Bob appreciates the hard work of his co-chair Sam Angell; the two of them are especially proud of the Class of 1982’s record participation rate for the 25th reunion (66%) and the 20th (67%).

A member of The 1833 Society and the Annual Fund Steering Committee, Bob has volunteered for Haverford in many areas, including admissions and career counseling. The College presented him with the William Sheppard Award in 2002 for his service to the College following the September 11th tragedy. Bob lives in Wynnewood, PA, and enjoys spending time with his sons Aidan and Liam and his partner, Emily Weisgrau (a former staff member at the College). He occasionally still plays baseball—ever grateful for the chance Greg Kannerstein gave to him.
GEORGE STAVIS ’67
The Sheppard Award
The Sheppard Award is given for exemplary service to Haverford College and the community. The award honors the late Director of Alumni Relations Bill Sheppard ’36. Exemplary service includes participation in Haverford’s regional events, affinity activities, or reunion programs.

George Stavis has led a varied life, as a musician and community leader—on the West Coast—and a college administrator, businessman, and attorney—on the East.

After Haverford, George pursued graduate studies in philosophy and worked in Santa Cruz, CA as a teaching assistant for the renowned public intellectual Norman O. Brown. As a professional musician (principally on 5-string banjo), he released two solo LPs and played on numerous records. With Jack Bowers ’67, Tim Ackerman ’68, and Bob Stern ’69, he formed the successful local band Oganookie, which performed in Northern California about 150 nights a year for several years. George’s solo performances included opening for the Grateful Dead, Neil Young, Jean-Luc Ponty, and Ritchie Havens.

In Santa Cruz, George built and operated the Louden Nelson Community Center. The largest senior citizen center in the county, it housed a 288-seat theatre, where he produced many productions. George was chair of the County Housing Commission for 10 years as well as vice-president of the Cultural Council. When he left Santa Cruz in 1985 for a position at Haverford, he received a Congressional Award from then-Congressman Leon Panetta for his contributions.

As Haverford’s alumni director for three years, George made several contributions including creating the “Founders Club” to engage students in alumni events and activities. Since 1985 he has served as class chair. In 1988 George became a partner in Tom & Jerry Boyswear, a children’s apparel business in New York, with Tim Ackerman ’68. He later attended Columbia University Law School, graduating with honors, and practiced law with a mid-size firm in New York. Having mostly retired from law practice, George still serves as general counsel for the medical software company founded by his brother Rob Stavis ’69. His other brother is Ben Stavis ’63.

2007–08, he served as senior advisor to Thomas Frieden, then commissioner of health for New York City and subsequently director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). Farley served in the CDC’s Epidemic Intelligence Service in 1987–89 and worked for the CDC and the Louisiana Office of Public Health from 1989 to 2000. During that period, he investigated disease outbreaks and directed programs to control various infectious diseases.

Thomas has coauthored over 100 scientific publications on topics such as HIV, Legionnaires’ disease, gun violence, infant mortality, and obesity. The author of Saving Gotham: A Billionaire Mayor, Activist Doctors, and the Fight for 8 Million Lives (2015), he also coauthored Prescription for a Healthy Nation (2006) with RAND senior scientist Deborah Cohen. Thomas and his wife, Alice Farley (formerly Gutknecht) BMC ’77—also a physician—have four daughters, including Helen Farley ’14.

VINCENT WARREN ’86
The Haverford College Alumni Distinguished Achievement Award for Outstanding Contributions in a Profession

As executive director of the Center for Constitutional Rights (CCR), Vince Warren oversees the nonprofit’s groundbreaking litigation and advocacy work. This includes using international and domestic law to hold corporations and government officials accountable for human rights abuses; challenging racial, gender, and LBGTQI+ injustice; and combating the illegal expansion of U.S. presidential power and policies, such as illegal detention at Guantanamo, rendition, and torture. Vince is a frequent guest on television and radio, speaking on these issues.

Previously, Vince worked as a senior staff attorney at the ACLU and as a criminal defense attorney for the Legal Aid Society in Brooklyn, NY. He was also involved in monitoring South Africa’s historic Truth and Reconciliation Commission hearings. Vince is a graduate of Rutgers University School of Law.

JACK BOWERS ’67
The Haverford Award for Service to Humanity
The Haverford Award supports and demonstrates the College’s concern for the application of knowledge to socially useful ends. It rewards alumni who best reflect Haverford’s concern with the uses to which they put their knowledge, humanity, initiative, and individuality. A musician, songwriter, and teacher, Jack Bowers was active in the Santa Cruz, CA music scene during the ’70s, performing and recording throughout California. He directed the Arts in Corrections program at Soledad Prison in Salinas Valley, CA from 1980 to 2007, developing it into the largest prison music program in the state. After severe cuts, Jack began working in 2011 to restore the program, which is now active again in all 33 California prisons.

Having originally joined the Arts in Corrections program by teaching songwriting workshops, Jack ultimately grew it to include twenty inmate bands and weekly workshops in music theory, jazz improvisation, and classical and blues guitar. He also supervised other professional artists who taught in the program, including current U.S. poet laureate Juan Felipe Herrera and jazz composer Andrew Hill.

After Haverford, Jack developed his career as a musician and songwriter, working with fellow alums George Stavis ’67, Bob Stern ’69 and Tim Ackerman ’68, as well as Country Music Hall of Fame artist Lacy J. Dalton, among others.

Jack plays jazz piano in venues around the Monterey Bay area, and serves on the board of the New Music Works, a contemporary classical music presenter. In 2005, he became board chair of the William James Association Prison Arts Project, helping develop arts programs in the county jail and at local alternative high schools. He and his wife, Juanita Usher, reside in Santa Cruz and enjoy travel, urban farming, and their five grandchildren.

DOUG MEIKLEJOHN ’67
The Haverford Award for Service to Humanity

Doug Meiklejohn is executive director of the New Mexico Environmental Law Center, which he founded in 1987. The Law Center initially focused on protecting New Mexico’s public lands, but since 1990 has provided legal clout to communities of color and low-income communities threatened or impacted by environmental degradation. This included Doug’s representation, early on, of a predominantly low-income, Spanish-speaking, immigrant community in a successful effort to close an incinerator that was polluting the community.

After Haverford, Doug served a year in AmeriCorps VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) before attending Cornell University Law School. Thereafter he worked for six years in Arizona legal aid offices, and then moved to Santa Fe, NM, where he spent 10 years in the Attorney General’s Office, the last four working to protect the environment.

Under Doug’s direction, the Law Center has grown to a staff of nine (including four attorneys), who advocate for communities, most of which are communities of color and low-income communities, in court, administrative agency proceedings, the state legislature, and other venues. In addition to promoting human health and environmental protection, the Center fights to protect community members’ ability to participate in these proceedings. Doug believes that the clients are the real heroes of this work, and fundamental to the Law Center is the principle that community members should decide for themselves what is best for them. To that end, the Law Center does not tell communities what to want, but instead works with them to achieve their own goals for environmental protection.

BRUCE ANDREWS ’90
The Lawrence Forman Award for Excellence in Athletics

The Forman Award goes to Haverford athletes who, professionally or voluntarily, have devoted a significant amount of time and energy to the betterment of society. The award honors Lawrence Forman ’60, one of the outstanding athletes in the history of Haverford College, who committed his life both to the betterment of humankind and to international understanding.

Bruce Andrews served as the deputy secretary of Commerce from 2014 through January 2017, under President Obama and Commerce Secretary Penny Pritzker. In this role he functioned as the chief operating officer, overseeing the Commerce Department’s internal operations as well as its twelve bureaus. He led the interagency process, including with the National Security Council and the National Economic Council. Bruce also represented the department around the country and the world, including in trade negotiations, leading trade missions, helping U.S. companies overseas, and meeting with government and business leaders. He worked on a wide variety of issues including digital economy policy, developing U.S. manufacturing, helping distressed communities, and creating the Commerce Data Service.

Previously, Bruce served as chief of staff to the secretary at the Department of Commerce. He was also general counsel for the U.S. Senate Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, where he was responsible for policy, legal, and jurisdictional issues, and the committee’s oversight and investigations.

Before his career in public service, Bruce worked in the private sector, including most recently as a vice president for governmental affairs for the Ford Motor Company. He also practiced in the public policy and telecommunications groups at the firm of Arnold & Porter. As a founding member of the firm Quinn Gillespie & Associates (QGA), Bruce worked on a variety of issues in transportation, technology, judiciary, telecommunications, and financial services.
KATHARINE BARATZ DALKE ’07
The Haverford College Young Alumni Award for Accomplishments in Leadership

The Young Alumni Award recognizes established and future leaders among Haverford alumni who have graduated in the last 10 years. They have shown great promise and accomplishment in their chosen professions and/or in community, public, or humanitarian service, demonstrating leadership and substantial commitment to the mission of the College.

Katie Baratz Dalke has spent the last ten years focusing on the clinical care and support of LGBTQI+ people. She is currently assistant professor of clinical psychiatry and the director for Sex and Gender Curriculum for the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine. Katie has been invited to speak in medical education settings around the country, and her work has been featured in medical journals, textbooks, and popular media.

Katie’s clinical work is based at Pennsylvania Hospital, where she treats patients on the inpatient psychiatric unit as well as on medical and surgical services. She also teaches medical students and psychiatric residents at the hospital. Katie earned her M.D. and a master’s degree in bioethics from the University of Pennsylvania, where she also completed her residency in psychiatry.

Katie is especially appreciative of Haverford for introducing her to her spouse, Sam Dalke ’07. They have a one-year-old child.

MAIA FREUDENBERGER ’13
The Haverford College Young Alumni Award for Accomplishments in Leadership

Maia Freudenberger grew up in the city of Fianarantsoa, Madagascar from age 6. After Haverford, she returned to Fianarantsoa to found Projet Jeune Leader, a youth-led organization that seeks to reduce rates of teenage pregnancy, school dropouts, and risky sexual behavior among adolescents ages 10–15.

The core of Projet Jeune Leader is a comprehensive sexual health and leadership education program for public middle schools in urban and rural Fianarantsoa. The organization trains young Malagasy adults in its health and leadership curriculum, and then places them in public middle schools, where they work full-time as educators, counselors, and mentors. Now in 12 middle schools, the program reaches over 12,000 students.

In 2016, the organization launched a complementary health and hygiene into the curriculum. A project focusing on reusable sanitary pads is in the pilot stage, involving over 1,200 students. With support from the Ministry of Education, the organization has developed a training program for primary school teachers that integrates messages about menstrual health and hygiene into the curriculum.

Never having anticipated that the organization would grow to its current scale, Maia now manages a staff of 37 people. She fundraises internationally and has won awards for her innovative approach. Maia plans to attend graduate school in public health.

BEATRICE MITCHELL ‘17
The Friend of Haverford College Award

Beatrice is a co-founder and managing director of Sperry, Mitchell & Company, an investment banking boutique that specializes in the sale or merger of private mid-market companies. She also co-owns Percival Scientific, a leading Iowa-based manufacturer of biological incubators and plant growth chambers.

A regular lecturer at the Columbia University Graduate School of Business, Beatrice has also lectured at New York University’s Stern School of Business and the University of Virginia’s Darden Graduate School of Business. She is widely quoted in the financial and business press, including The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, Financial Times, Forbes, Fortune, Business Week, Crain’s, USA Today, CNN Money Line, and National Public Radio. In 2016, Beatrice was a featured speaker at The Bloomberg Breakaway Summit and an expert panelist for a Merrill Corporation webinar. The magazine Mergers & Acquisitions recognized her as recognized as one of “the Most Influential Women in Mid-Market M&A” in 2016 and 2015. Beatrice is the co-author of The Complete Guide to Selling Your Business (2004), which is now in its third edition and has been published in Chinese. She is a member of the board and of the Executive Committee of the InterSchool Orchestras of New York, and a board member of The Institute for Career Development (ICD), as well as chair of its Development Committee. Beatrice received a B.A. from Yale University and an M.B.A. from the Columbia University Graduate School of Business. She and her husband (and business partner) Paul Sperry—who is also receiving this award—are the parents of William Sperry ‘17.

NEAL GRABELL ’77
The Friend of Haverford College Award

The Friend Award is given for exemplary and sustained service to the College, and loyal and active support for the mission of the College, by a member of the greater Haverford community.

Neal Grabell has been a professor at Haverford since 2006. He teaches courses on business and professional ethics, management, and financial and managerial accounting. He has supervised independent study courses in corporate finance, financial modeling, and managerial economics. Neal also provides legal advice and services to the College. He led the Ethical Leadership Summer Institute program during 2016 and 2017. As the faculty liaison and scorekeeper for the softball team, he attends most of the practices and almost all of the games. Neal does not accept compensation for any of his services to the College.

Neal and his son Daniel Grabell ’14, both history majors, endowed a Haverford scholarship for students majoring in history, and Neal is the first donor to the Annual Fund each year.

Prior to teaching at Haverford, Neal spent 21 years as the executive vice president and general counsel of a large international retailer. He received his law degree from Georgetown University. Neal is the president of the Foundations of Golden Slipper Club & Charities and a permanent governor of the scholarship-based Golden Slipper Camp, where he was a counselor during his summers as a Haverford student. He is the managing member of Level Four Management, LLC, a private equity firm, and a director of EVINE Live, Inc. Neal and his wife, Lisa, live in Bryn Mawr, PA.
Where do I go when I arrive on campus?
Please come directly to the Whitehead Campus Center registration desk to check in and receive your Reunion tote bag and any updated class-specific information. If you are staying in the dormitories for the weekend, you will receive your room key and housing assignment at this time. The registration desk is open 24 hours a day between noon on Thursday and 7:00 p.m. on Saturday.

Where is our class housing?
Air-conditioned dormitory rooms are available for Thursday night through Sunday morning, and those who register in advance will be assigned a room upon arrival on campus. Within each room you will find bed linens, blankets, two towels, and basic toiletries for each guest. Only single beds are available. In most cases there is only one bed per room (although there are some doubles). Private baths are not available.

What if I don't want to stay in a dorm?
Some alumni prefer the convenience of a local hotel. The College has reserved blocks of rooms at several hotels. When making your reservation please indicate that you are calling for the Haverford College Alumni Weekend rate. For additional information, visit hav.to/alumniweekend.

What meals are available?
We offer all alumni Friday breakfast, lunch, and dinner; Saturday breakfast, lunch, and dinner; and Sunday brunch. On Saturday night, each Reunion class has its own class dinner. We can accommodate restricted diets; please indicate any restrictions when you register.

Where can I park on campus?
The South Lot (see map, page 18) is the closest to the Whitehead Campus Center registration desk; however, alumni may park in any marked space, including those normally reserved for staff or students.

Are children welcome?
Yes! Alumni with young children may bring sleeping bags for them to “camp” in the room. There is no charge for young campers, but please indicate on your registration form how many will stay overnight. In addition, children ages 3–13 are invited to join HaverCamp, Saturday’s daylong camp session. (See description, page 7.) Activities include a nature walk, games, arts and crafts, and a trip to the family carnival. Unfortunately, we are unable to provide care for children under the age of three or who are not potty-trained. Pre-Registration is required.
